Tax Hikes Suggested

Council Discusses City Budget Deficit

Approximately 30 Sedalia businessmen met with Mayor Abe Silverman and the City Council Monday night to discuss ways of making up an expected deficit of some $50,000 in city operating expenses for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Mayor Silverman expressed his appreciation to those attending on invitation to serve in an advisory capacity. The first order of business was to acquaint the group with the present financial condition of the city. Councilman Clyde Swafford, chairman of the finance committee, read the budget for last year and the projected budget for the coming year. It was brought out that the projected budget would require approximately $50,000 in additional revenue.

With the adoption of some plans by the city council at the next council meeting, Mayor Silverman indicated the proposed budget might be pared to about $28,000 deficit.

Various businessmen suggested means of raising the additional revenue from various sources. An increase in city tax on gasoline, cigarettes, auto license, increased real estate and personal property taxes, and police fines, was suggested along with salary cuts for city employees. Most of these suggestions were found to be illegal, unfeasible or unsuitable.

The general trend toward a garbage collection tax was mentioned by several speakers. Swafford said he was in favor of the garbage collection tax as the best way to make up the immediate deficit. He added that he favored a $1 tax on garbage to be added to the monthly water bills of meter users, and to make up for the tax, the city would add a free trash pick-up of trash that had been placed in cartons or packages of some 50 pounds each.

The deficit was created primarily, Swafford said, by the city parking lot program in which the proceeds from parking meters would go to pay for the new parking lots. He said he anticipated it would be five years before any money from the parking meters could be added to the general revenue fund.

It was brought out that the finances of several other cities of the same class as Sedalia had been studied, and that the study was continuing. It was brought out that most cities charge some type of garbage collection tax, and that many cities added a sewage tax, which, when applied to industries, amounted to a considerable sum.

Carlton Kelley, a past member of the finance committee, took the floor and brought out that people who had recently bought real estate were paying more taxes than residents who had lived for years on the same property. The assessment on new property and property which had recently changed hands was much higher than that which had been assessed many years ago, he said.

Rocket Soars Skyward; Twisting Is Planned

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A lightning swift Polaris experimental rocket roared skyward today in a strenuous test of its guidance and control systems.

Just as was planned, the trim rocket twisted crazily high in the sky until its fuel ran out and it broke apart.

After rising about 100 feet, the Polaris jerked sharply to the left and continued straight up. The Navy explained the vehicle was directed to follow a flight path involving abrupt upward and downward pitches.

The rocket, a forerunner of what probably will be the nation's most advanced intermediate range ballistic weapon, tumbled and then burst apart when fuel burnout occurred 25 seconds after takeoff.

Rain, Cool Weather Remain in Forecast

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Rainy conditions and below normal temperatures remain in the Missouri weather outlook.

The forecast said it will be partly cloudy this afternoon, tonight and tomorrow with a few widely scattered afternoon and evening thunderstorms.

Tonight's low temperatures are expected to be in the 50s in the north and the lower 60s in the south. Tomorrow's maximum readings will be 80-85.

Kelley also brought out that the present tax rates on cigarettes, gasoline and automobiles was at the maximum allowed by the state and could not be increased. He suggested the finance committee analyze the trend of expenses and income over a period and present some concrete proposals to the group at a later meeting.

Mayor Silverman asked Kelley if he would assist in working up these plans and he agreed to do so. The mayor said he would have these plans and analyses duplicated and presented to the businessmen in time for study before the next meeting.

Extra Story To Be Added On New Wing

It Will Be Shell
Without Partitions
For Rooms Inside

Fred P. Lange, president of the board of trustees of Bothwell Memorial Hospital announced today that the hospital board has elected to make a change order in the present plans of the new addition being constructed at Bothwell Hospital.

The change to be made is to add an additional story to one section of the new wing, thereby increasing it from a two-story to a three-story structure. The third story will be added in shell-form only, and will not be partitioned off into rooms. The area will be used for storage space and will be so designed that it may be partitioned off into patient rooms when additional funds become available for this purpose.

The board's action was contingent upon the final approval by William A. Crabtree, acting director of the Bureau of Hospital Facilities, Missouri Division of Health. Lange stated that the board is aware that in the near future, additional beds will be required to take care of the patients coming to Bothwell Hospital. Unfortunately, funds for this purpose are not available at this time, but the board deemed it necessary to put up the outside walls during the present construction, as an economy move. The cost of construction on this additional floor in an unfinished fashion will be approximately $30,000. Lange stated, it is hoped that appropriations will be made by the State Division of Health to cover half of this cost out of Hill Burton Funds. The board will be most happy to accept any donations from citizens of Sedalia and the surrounding territory who are interested in their community hospital to assist them in meeting this financial obligation.

Lange stated that many civic-minded individuals and organizations have aided the hospital in their desperate need for funds to make the needed addition as complete and well equipped as possible. It is hoped that other citizens and organizations of Sedalia and the surrounding territory who are interested in their community hospital will assist the hospital financially.

Knob Noster Mo-Pac Ticket Office Robbed

William Harmon, Knob Noster, extra gang track foreman for the Missouri-Pacific Railroad, discovered the windows of the Knob Noster ticket office open at 9 a. m. Sunday and reported the discovery to the chief dispatcher in Jefferson City who called the ticket agent in Knob Noster, J. H. Son, and asked him to investigate the incident.

The ticket office window had been pried open and $7.44 was missing from the Western Union change box. The thief also broke into the money drawer and the ticket stock drawer, but nothing was taken.

Walter Withaupt, special investigator for the Missouri-Pacific Railroad, on his way to Warrensburg on business, was asked to investigate the incident.

RAINS FLOOD WHEAT FIELD—Ken McNeill, left, and Don Weller of Topeka, Kan., wade out to inspect damage caused by recent heavy rains to wheat crops in the Topeka area. Farmers estimated it will be at least 2 weeks before they can get combines into soggy fields.

Institutions Get Some

School Lunches Are First In Surplus Food Programs

The school lunch program and the special milk program takes a large part of Uncle Sam's surplus food distributed annually. After the lunch program share is taken out, the remainder is distributed to non-profit charitable institutions and to needy individuals outside of institutions.

A dispatch from The Democratic-Capital Washington Bureau reveals that during the last fiscal year the number of Missouri schools participating in the lunch program increased from 2,340 to 2,345. Those participating in the milk program increased from 2,189 to 2,913.

All Sedalia public schools take part in the lunch program to provide hot noon meals for students. Sedalia schools also take part in the milk program. Several Pettis County schools outside Sedalia also participate in the program. Those participating in the lunch program include Liberty, Striped College, High Point, Sunnyside, Bothwell Hill, South Side, Anderson, High Point, Georgetown, Quisenberry and Bothwell schools take part in the special milk program.

The Buena Vista Home in Sedalia qualifies as a non-profit charitable institution to receive the surplus products.

Needy individuals in Pettis County received surplus food assistance, however, this food is not distributed by the Pettis County Welfare Agency. All the agency does is certify the individual is qualified to receive state aid.

The Department of Agriculture reports that during the peak in fiscal 1957, 31,327 persons in institutions received food, and 9,419 outside. Present indications are that the figure for institutions will drop slightly for fiscal 1958, to about 30,800. However, a sharp rise is indicated for fiscal 1958 in the number of those who live outside institutions and receive surplus food. Present indications point to a figure around 62,685.

A bill was recently introduced in the Senate to speed up the distribution of food to needy Americans. The bill's sponsor, Senator Alexander Wiley of Wisconsin, says it's "important that folks requiring food be promptly certified, rather than simply allowing it to stay in warehouses (with needless storage charges mounting daily). Food should be in people's stomachs, and not in warehouses."

American Savings Reach Highest Point

WASHINGTON (AP) — Americans have more money salted away in savings accounts, government bonds, and insurance equities than ever before in history.

The Federal Home Loan Bank board reported Monday that such savings totaled more than 268 billion dollars at the end of March. Additions to savings during the first three months of the year were $5,583,000,000, for an annual rate of about $22,300,000,000.

This annual rate topped actual savings in the record year 1944 by a few thousand dollars.

Living Costs Hit Another Record High

But Register Least
Monthly Rise Since
Last December Low

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's living costs hit another new record in May but registered the smallest monthly rise since December.

The latest government reading on living costs, released today, held out hope that the two-year inflationary spiral has leveled out for the summer. Food items as a whole failed to increase in May for the first time since November.

The Labor Department index rose one-tenth of 1 per cent to 123.6 per cent of the 1947-49 base. This is 3.3 per cent higher than May last year. It represents the 19th straight rise in the index in the past 21 months.

The index has not declined in any month since August 1956.

The living cost rise means an automatic pay boost for an estimated 850,000 workers mainly in the steel, aluminum, can manufacturing and meat-packing industries.

About 750,000 workers in these industries are to get a 4 cent hourly pay increase effective July 1 under labor contract clauses gearing pay rates to the government index.

The remaining 100,000 workers, primarily in the aircraft industry and in the Washington and Detroit transit systems, are to get 2-cent per hour raises.

Other escalator pay raises pegged to the living cost increase range from 1 cent to 9 cents per hour.

Increases in medical care costs and transportation prices were largely responsible for the moderate hike in May for the overall index.

The medical care increase was attributed primarily to higher premiums for Blue Cross hospitalization plans in several cities, including San Francisco and Kansas City.

Sam Harlan Appointed Pettis Probate Judge

Asserts Irwin Feud Victim

State to Use 42 Witnesses To Help Show Varner Guilt

CALIFORNIA, Mo. (AP) — The state told a murder trial jury today that it would prove 15-year-old Larry Dale Irwin was the victim of a fenceland feud.

Leroy Snodgrass, Miller county prosecuting attorney, told the jury of five women and seven men a wealth of circumstantial evidence would show that Victor I. (Tex) Varner was the probable murderer of Irwin and his boss, Edwin Boysen.

Will F. Berry Jr., Varner's chief counsel, told the jury "That's the doggondest opening statement in a murder trial I have ever heard."

State's attorneys objected to Berry's comment and Circuit Judge Claude E. Curtis cautioned Berry to tell the jury only what the defense intended to prove.

Whereupon Berry objected to the judge's telling the jury that the defense had to prove anything in a murder trial.

Judge Curtis reminded the jury that he had not said and did not intend to say the defense had the burden of proof.

Berry said the defense will point out "the big, gaping holes in the state's case."

Snodgrass told the jury that 42 state witnesses will show that:

Varner was convicted in Chicago 27 years ago of stealing $1,500 worth of property and was sentenced to 10 years in the Illinois reformatory. He served his time.

Varner formerly operated the horseback riding concession at Lake Ozark State Park but was replaced in 1956 by a better bidder, Marjorie Roberts.

After he moved out Varner told Miss Roberts that she'd go broke and that he would buy her saddles and equipment at half price.

Miss Roberts hired the man she divorced 15 years ago, Edwin Boysen, to help her run the concession.

Boysen and Varner had frequent arguments about Varner's using state property as part of his trail ride on the competing riding ranch he opened nearby.

Boysen put up fences to prevent Varner from using the state property and further arguments developed.

Varner's .32 caliber rifle was the weapon used in the ambush slaying of Boysen and Irwin last July 5. The gun was found six months later by brush cutters halfway between the scene of the crimes and Varner's home. Varner had insisted the gun was stolen before the killings.

Varner was acquitted in Cole County Circuit Court April 4 of killing Boysen. At that time an all-male jury returned the verdict. This time there are five women and seven men on the jury.

Most of the prospective jurors were dismissed because they said they had formed opinions about Varner's guilt or innocence.

The Roberts woman was one of the first witnesses. She testified she took over the horseback riding operations in the park after she submitted a better bid than Varner. She said Varner was bitter about it.

SEC Called To Explain Action Delay

Takes Action After Goldfine Accused
Of Misusing Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — Securities and Exchange Commission officials were pressed today to explain why SEC took legal action forcing a Bernard Goldfine firm to file reports only after a minority stockholder accused Goldfine of misapplying money.

Goldfine, Boston industrialist, is a friend and benefactor of presidential assistant Sherman Adams, who had another White House aide inquire in 1956 about the status of the SEC case involving Goldfine's East Boston Co.

A special House investigating subcommittee was given testimony that the East Boston Co. stopped in 1948 filing annual reports required by SEC, but that until 1954 SEC did no more than write letters and use similar informal means to try to get East Boston to comply.

Byron D. Woodside, director of the SEC division of corporation finance, said SEC's Boston office reported in 1953 that a minority stockholder had filed a suit seeking access to corporation books. Subcommittee counsel Robert Lishman said this suit—later dismissed by the court—asserted that Goldfine had misused, secreted and dissipated corporation funds.

The testimony led to lengthy exchanges between subcommittee members, Woodside and SEC Chairman Edward N. Gadsby as to whether SEC acted in such cases only after there had been a manifestation of public interest.

Woodside said that as far back as 1949 there had been some question of seeking to have East Boston delisted by the Boston Stock Exchange for failure to file reports.

But, he said, in the whole preceding year trading in its stock amounted only to $124.

"It looked like a dying operation," Woodside said.

Some questions raised the issue whether SEC has legal justification for trying to settle violations informally, without prosecution.

Gadsby said that "where the situation is bad enough, we wouldn't hesitate a minute to begin criminal proceedings."

Lishman commended the general uprightness he said investigators had found in the SEC. He said a thorough check of leads supplied by apparently reliable sources showed little information useful to the investigation.

But during a recess in the hearing, Lishman told newsmen his remarks did not apply to the information the subcommittee had gathered in the Goldfine case.

What the subcommittee checked and found little or no information on, he said, was an allegation that husbands and wives of commission personnel were playing security markets.

Gadsby hotly denied the SEC gave favored treatment to Goldfine after getting a White House call about his case.

Warning System Is Planned for County

Plans for a warning system, soon to be submitted for Pettis County, includes the installation of sirens in Sedalia, Smithton, Green Ridge, LaMonte, Hughesville and Houstonia. The plan, if approved, will be a part of the nationwide warning system.

The system will allow for tornado, cyclone or other natural disaster warnings as well as civil defense alerts. The system alert "take cover" will be issued only at the actual approach of a tornado, it was pointed out, and not as a forecast warning.

The sirens are to be a two-tone variety approved by the Federal Civil Defense Agency. FCDA has approved matching funds for the purchase of the sirens, or the conversion of single tone sirens to the approved two-tone variety.

Say No Threat Was Intended Against Burke

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican congressional leaders said today President Eisenhower and Secretary of Defense McElroy never intended any threat of reprisal against Adm. Arleigh Burke for criticizing the administration's defense reorganization program.

Their views were reported to newsmen by Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland of California and House GOP Chief Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts. They held a news conference after their regular weekly meeting with the President.

McElroy attended the conference. Over the weekend, the secretary of defense had termed it regrettable that Burke, the chief of naval operations, had refused to support some features of the reorganization plan in testimony before a congressional committee.

McElroy's remarks were sized up by reporters as a rebuke to Burke, but the defense secretary later insisted that he had intended no rebuke.

The episode caused Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee to call on the administration for assurances there would be no reprisals against top military men who disagree with the administration's position. Russell suspended scheduled testimony by military leaders pending receipt of such assurances.

Reporting on today's discussion, Knowland said it is his understanding that Eisenhower does not feel that any reprimand or reprisal was made or intended in McElroy's remarks about Burke's testimony.

Knowland said it also was his very clear impression that McElroy took that position, too, at the White House meeting.

McElroy has been in touch with Russell, Knowland said.

Knowland said Eisenhower believes it is highly important that a defense reorganization bill along the lines he recommended be passed by the Senate.

The House-passed bill does not include three changes the President recommended.

At present, Knowland said, administration officials and members of the Senate Armed Services Committee are trying to work out mutually agreeable language with respect to the changes Eisenhower wants.

As for the McElroy-Burke incident, Knowland said both Eisenhower and McElroy hold Burke in the highest regard.

The senator said in reply to a question that Eisenhower feels the entire episode is a result of a misunderstanding.

Funnel Clouds Tower KC; None Hit Ground

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Several funnel clouds were reported over outlying areas of Kansas City last night but none was believed to have touched ground.

The funnels accompanied a line of thunderstorms which moved from Kansas into Missouri early in the night. There were reports of scattered wind and hail storms. The weather bureau reported a funnel formed briefly in the sky over Overland Park, Kan., a suburb southwest of Kansas City. Another funnel, traveling east, was reported 10 miles north of the Municipal Air Terminal.

A severe thunderstorm accompanied by hail struck Gladstone, Mo. A resident living two miles east of Gladstone reported a funnel cloud but there was no confirmation by authorities.

The Clay County, Missouri, sheriff's office reported several calls verifying the existence of a funnel cloud about 1,000 feet above ground at Liberty, Mo.

Foreign Aid Bill Is Sided For One Day

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today put off action on a compromise $3,675,400,000 foreign aid authorization bill until Wednesday.

Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) said the delay was for the convenience of the Foreign Affairs Committee which originally had planned to have the measure considered today.

The compromise measure is 266½ million dollars less than Eisenhower requested. The Senate has yet to act on it.

Dropped from the compromise measure was a Senate amendment designed to curb spending of U.S.-owned foreign currencies by traveling senators, representatives and committee employees by requiring publication of individual, itemized expense accounts.

The compromise bill would require committee members or employees to report spending to committee chairmen, who in turn would publish consolidated reports. There would be no public individual listing.

Also knocked out in the compromise was a Senate requirement aimed at halting use of foreign aid funds for the purchase abroad of Japanese textiles and other articles competing with American-made products.

The measure including $1,605,000,000 for military assistance to friendly foreign countries and $10 million for defense support aid.

The military aid figure is 195 million less than the President requested, while the support allotment falls 25 million short of what he wanted.

Burglary Ring Rounded Up With Three Arrests

Sheriff Paul Piper, Saline County, cracked, with the arrest of three men last weekend, a burglary ring and has admissions of four burglaries and an attempt burglary in May and the first part of this month.

Under arrest are: Verne Landon Warren, 36, Crescent City, Calif.; Cecil Ray Wyatt, 19, Darrington, Calif.; James P. Wilson, Jr., 19, Marshall.

The three men are being held in the county jail.

Sheriff Piper arrested Wyatt and Wilson here and Warren was arrested by the sheriff at Lebanon and was driving a stolen car from the state of California. Sheriff Piper brought Warren to Marshall last Sunday afternoon.

Here are the burglaries which have been admitted and the cash loot:

May 13, Santa Fe School at Grand Pass, $20; May 18, feed mill and elevator at Waverly, $85 from a safe; May 20, Food Fair supermarket at Sweet Springs, $600 from a safe. January 8, Phillips-Mathis Lumber company at Slater, $1.80 in nickels.

The attempted burglary was at Charley's Market in Slater, the same night that the lumber company there was robbed. Entry to the market was not effected.

Sheriff Piper has received a telegram from authorities at Thermopolis, Wyo., saying Warren and Wyatt are wanted there for robbery of a supermarket. The Thermopolis officials have placed a hold on Wyatt and Wilson.

Chief of Police Ralph Hamlin went to Marshall where he questioned the trio in connection with blowing the safe at the Pepsi Cola Bottling Co., and other robberies in the area. The three denied participating in any robberies here.

However, they did admit to Chief Hamlin they had been in Sedalia once, that was when they went to a dance out on the highway.

Chief Hamlin said they are wanted in California, Arizona, Montana, Colorado and Wyoming as well as here in Missouri.

Strip Tease Lessons Non-Payable in Court

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — He taught his girl to be a stripteaser but Harold Fink won't get the pay he wanted for the lessons.

Common Pleas Judge Harry J. Dingeman Jr. Monday dismissed Fink's suit for $1,417.83 from his pupil, blonde Marie Tappan, 20.

Mrs. Tappan said Fink was peevish because she broke up with him. The judge agreed, ruling Fink's relationship with Mrs. Tappan was strictly social.

Fink, 32-year-old railroad clerk, said he spent the money on costumes and lessons for Mrs. Tappan, whose stage name is Vicki Renne.

Soviet Adds Militiamen To Embassy

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government stationed two additional militiamen in front of the Canadian Embassy today but it appeared unlikely so far that a demonstration was in the offing in retaliation for the attack on the Soviet Embassy in Ottawa.

Nor was there any indication that the U.S. Embassy would be the target of a Soviet crowd, as the West German Embassy was yesterday and the Danish Embassy was Friday.

Demonstrators have attacked Soviet embassies in Copenhagen, Bonn, Ottawa and New York with stones and ink in protest against the execution of Imre Nagy and three other leaders of the 1956 Hungarian revolution.

Only the Copenhagen and Bonn incidents have been reported by the Soviet press and radio, however. It was very unlikely that any spontaneous demonstration against the Canadian and American establishments would be ordered without first setting the stage by publicizing the cause for retaliation.

The extra guards brought the total outside the Canadian Embassy to four. Their presence aroused some suspicion, since similar extra guards had arrived at the Danish and West German buildings a few hours in advance of the demonstrators.

The Canadians said they had not asked for the extra protection. The West German Embassy had, but the four guards there had little effect on the crowd of 1,500 which hurled sticks, stones and ink at the building for two hours. Police reinforcements finally dispersed the demonstrators after they broke all windows in the building.

Sedalia Garden Club Home Tour Is Held

The Sedalia Garden Club home tour sponsored by the Past Presidents' Club was held from 1 to 3 p.m. Friday, June 20, and included floral decorations in the home, the theme of which was "Company Coming."

Following is a description of the three newest homes on the tour of six of Sedalia's loveliest homes. The three are the homes of Mrs. Ted Gardner, 3001 Skyline Drive; Mrs. B. Y. Edelen, 1711 West Tenth, and Mrs. Paul Read, Route 3.

The living room of the Gardner home, in Southwest Village, was very lovely with walls tinted a delicate green, which was also the color in the dining room. On the piano was the arrangement of "Melody at Home," a tall and very striking arrangement combining yellow lilies in shades of yellow and the long stiff leaves of mother-in-law's tongue. On the other side of the piano were bayberry candles in brass dragon candleholders.

Indirect lighting from above a paneled wall gave a soft glow to the room and on either side of the paneled wall were bookshelves. A coffee table arrangement was the conversational piece and was of pink roses and pink sweetpeas in an aqua container. The carpet in the room was red and a beautiful loveseat was also red.

In the dining room the traditional luncheon table, using antique

Trujillo's Navy Lies at Anchor After Port Shift

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — The private navy of Gen. Rafael Trujillo Jr. lies at anchor here today after suddenly shifting port.

Some say the report of a bomb hidden aboard the yacht Angelita sent her on sudden maneuvers. Others mention Zsa Zsa Gabor.

Young Trujillo abruptly abandoned Los Angeles Harbor yesterday, departing so suddenly he had to leave his $12,000 Mercedes Benz sports car behind for crewmen who missed the boat.

Capt. Ramon Julio Didez Burgos, the Angelita's skipper, blamed the move on "hectic confusion" resulting Sunday when Coast Guardsmen, detectives and firemen searched the 350-foot vessel for a bomb reportedly hidden aboard.

They found nothing. Longshoreman Rex Torbert, 60, was booked yesterday on a charge of making a false report of a bomb. He told police he made the report because he didn't like rich generals.

But there was speculation Zsa Zsa had more to do than Torbert with the Angelita's hurried call for tugs. Santa Monica is 20 miles closer to Hollywood — and Zsa Zsa's home — than is Los Angeles Harbor. And Zsa Zsa was announcing to Hollywood chums that she will be hostess at a party aboard the Angelita July 8.

Primary Will Decide Nominee for Governor

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—A runoff Democratic primary that virtually means election to office decides today on the party nominee for governor.

The race in this overwhelming Democratic state is between Lt. Gov. Ernest F. Hollings, 36, and Donald Russell, 52, former president of the University of South Carolina.

Hollings, a Charleston lawyer, drew 158,159 votes in the three-cornered first primary two weeks ago. Russell, a Spartanburg attorney and onetime associate of former Gov. James F. Byrnes, polled about 26,000 fewer votes.

While Mayor William C. Johnston of Anderson ran third and retired from the race.

Gov. George Bell Timmerman Jr. is ineligible to run under a one-term rule. Other runoffs today pick nominees for state adjutant general, 12 State Legislature seats and other posts.

The Hollings-Russell battle has been characterized by personal attacks rather than by firm issues.

Well-Meaning Driver Takes Man Too Far

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP)—"I don't know how that fellow who picked me up got so all-fired confused," Henry Newson, 76, told police.

"I wondered why it took so long to get home. My house on Corpus Christi Street is just a few blocks from the pension office on Lyons Street."

And that's where he was headed—Corpus Christi Street in Houston — when a well-meaning motorist picked him up in downtown Houston and gave him a lift here, some 200 miles away.

Police contacted some of the elderly man's friends in Houston who agreed to drive here and pick him up.

china and silver, was featured. The Bavarian china had a dainty pink and blue floral pattern, and the arrangement of roses, coral bell and cornflower in shades of pink in silver added charm to the setting. The dining room chairs were needlepoint. The draperies in the room were gold used with white curtains and a shutter door was effective at the entrance into the kitchen. A lalique vase is a prize possession of Mrs. Gardner.

Her kitchen has many built-in cabinets of natural wood finish, and copperware gives a bright touch. Curtains in the kitchen are yellow and the arrangement on the breakfast table picked up the color in coreopsis.

A shade of lavender was the tint used on the walls in one of the bedrooms where white curtains with bunches of violets were used. The furniture was antique. In the bathroom where beige was the predominating color, were white lilies in an antique vase.

In another bedroom with yellow walls, were aqua curtains with yellow roses. A lovely little arrangement here was of coreopsis and lavender.

Another new home is that of Mrs. B. Y. Edelen, 1711 West Tenth, where on the warm afternoon guests were greeted by the coolness of air conditioning. This very modern home has two large picture windows comprising most of the wall from ceiling to floor through which may be seen the lovely garden in back of the Edelen home. The living room combines soft shades of green and rose in its color scheme and has a delightful charm of restfulness and beauty. On the wall is a collection of four framed bird prints. The draperies at the big windows are a colorful print. A marble top coffee table is very attractive, on which Mrs. Edelen had a very unusual arrangement of white and pink roses in a large black ash tray which she said had held far more flower arrangements than cigarette ashes.

The walls were tinted light green, but a narrow wall that divides the living room and dining room is a dark rose.

The arrangement on the dining room table was of pink roses, lilac spirea and paradise spirea.

The colorful kitchen was in gray and red, and featured the breakfast table using turquoise pottery and crystal on silver metallic cloth woven place mats. White roses and bells of Ireland formed the centerpiece.

One bedroom had rose beige walls with apron length draperies the same shade. The modern furniture, too, was of rose beige. The other bedroom had a great deal of color with a bright flowered bedspread, chair of matching material, and dark green rug, draperies and lamp shades. Red and white carnations dark green foliage in a green glass bowl was very effective on the dresser.

The home was designed by Mr. and Mrs. Edelen's son-in-law who is an architect.

Another new home visited was that of Mrs. Paul Read, Route 3, which has an unusual and interesting use of glass. As the home is entered, a wall, with the upper part of thick obscure glass in the hall, angles to form a slight partition between the living room and the dining. A large bouquet of white daisies, coreopsis and gailardia in white vase at the end of the partition, was the "Welcome Guests" arrangement. In front of the living room fireplace was a large brown vase filled with orange day lilies. A conversational piece on the coffee table was a glass basket filled with sweetpeas in rainbow shades and baby breath. A sophisticated lady with flowers forming the crown of her hat was on a table and "Melody at Home" was a white vase filled with white sweetpeas with a figurine dancer on the piano.

The Read home featured the family dinner table using ivy pattern pottery. Floribunda roses of yellow tinged with pink with ivy. The table cloth was dark green and were the napkins. On the buffet was an arrangement of mixed garden flowers. The picture windows in both the living room and dining room had draperies with bright flowers, which was also at the door in the dining room pulled to one side. The rug was gray, and an exceptional piece of furniture was a large, low round table on which were magazines.

One bedroom had modern furniture with floral draperies in pink and blue with pink lamps, and an arrangement of white and pastel colors. The other bedroom was very attractive with yellow flowered draperies and a yellow spread on the bed. There were red roses in a crystal vase.

One of the striking things about Mrs. Read's attractive kitchen is the use of glass back of her stove, sink and cabinets.

Hoffa, Two Co-defendants Are Acquitted

NEW YORK (AP) — Teamsters President James R. Hoffa and two codefendants were acquitted last night of charges that they conspired to wiretap the union's Detroit headquarters.

A federal jury of eight men and four women deliberated seven hours before returning the verdict.

The defendants with Hoffa were Owen B. Brennan, president of Detroit Teamsters Local 337, and Bernhard Spindel, a professional wiretapper.

Conviction could have brought a maximum sentence of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

A previous trial ended in a hung jury.

The government contended the trio illegally conspired here to install wiretaps in the Detroit headquarters in 1953 so Hoffa could eavesdrop on union subordinates.

Hoffa allegedly wanted to know what the subordinates might tell to U.S. Senate investigators or a grand jury in Detroit during investigations of the Teamsters Union.

The defense denied installing any wiretaps but conceded installing other eavesdropping equipment in the union's offices.

Cheers and applause erupted in the courtroom when the verdict was announced. In the corridor outside, Hoffa, the stocky, 43-year-old union boss, was mobbed as he pushed his way to a telephone to speak to his wife in Detroit.

He told reporters: "I could have a lot to say, but my attorneys advised me not to make any comment."

Hoffa motored to LaGuardia Field, where he took a plane to Detroit.

He was greeted at Willow Run Airport by his daughter Barbara, 20, and son Jimmy, 27.

Said Hoffa: "I am glad to get home and see my family. Naturally I am happy about the jury's verdict. Now I'll be able to get back to union affairs."

During the trial, government witnesses testified that Hoffa was in Detroit July 9, 1953, where the operation of the wiretaps allegedly was explained to him.

The defense offered evidence that Hoffa was in Seattle that day in connection with a union conference.

Hoffa is still under indictment here on five counts of perjury, growing out of testimony he gave to the grand jury that indicted him on wiretap charges.

Advise to 'Go Slow' In Giving Medicines Yielding Bad Reaction

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—One of the problems of modern medicine is preventing or curing ailments caused by new drugs administered to treat or cure something else.

The American Medical Assn. took up this problem today in a panel discussion by several experts. They advised a "go slow" procedure in giving medicines known to cause undesirable reactions in patients.

Dr. Leo E. Hollister of the Veterans Administration hospital at Palo Alto said the tranquilizing drugs do more good than harm in carefully selected patients but that their use in some instances can cause complications.

Certain tranquilizers can produce undesirable behavior effects, he said. Others can poison the system. Some can cause allergic reactions or unfavorably influence gland performance or metabolism.

Skin reactions are probably the most common undesirable effects, said Dr. Harold O. Perry, dermatologist of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn.

Skin outbreaks can come from a wide variety of drugs, even from certain of the old standby vitamins.

Miss Colleen Roberts Becomes Bride of Richard E. Mather

Miss Colleen Roberts, 2214 West Third, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Garner, Lincoln, Neb., and Richard E. Mather, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Mather, Ionia, were united in marriage at seven o'clock Saturday evening, May 31, at the Calvary Episcopal Church. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Edward Sims before an altar decorated with two large bouquets of "gladioli and stock."

Preceding the ceremony several appropriate selections were played by Mrs. James Atkinson, 2101 East 16th. She also accompanied Mrs. Robert Seelen as she sang "The Lord's Prayer" and "O Perfect Love". The traditional wedding marches were used.

The bride, escorted to the altar by her father, wore a gown of Schiffl embroidery over satin. Baby scallops outlined the portrait neckline of the smoothly sculptured bodice, which was designed with tiny shirred sleeves complimented with dainty embroidered mitts. Beneath the narrow waist the Schiffl embroidery was echoed in a voluminous overskirt edged with scallops, draping to just above the hem length, over a froth of tulle which extended into a chapel train. Her double illusion veil was held in place by a heart-shaped crown of sequins and pearls and she carried a colonial bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Mrs. Eugene Scotten, Green Ridge, was matron of honor. She wore a ballerina-length dress of nylon lace in cotton blue. It was designed with a strapless bodice and very full skirt. A wide satin sash of blue formed the fitted midriff and tied at the back with a bustle bow. A dust ruffle encircled the hem. A net shoulder-ette was worn during the ceremony. Her matching bandeau of satin and net was designed with bows on either side. She carried a colonial bouquet of blue tinted carnations.

Melvin Miller, Independence, served as best man. Peggy Garner, sister of the bride, Lincoln, Neb., was flower girl. She wore a white taffeta ballerina length dress with an overlay of net scallops.

Both the mother of the bride and the mother of the groom wore navy blue dresses trimmed in white with navy and white accessories. Their corsages were of white carnations.

For Hire: Everything

This is the day of the service trades. Put your money on the line and you can rent something you don't want to buy or get something done you can't do or don't want to do.

Many of the jobs mother used to perform around the house are done now by shops outside. The rest of the time she's running household machinery which usually has to be repaired by outside servicemen.

To supplement their labor-saving equipment, many people rent tools for use around the house, like Sanders, drills, saws and floor polishers.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Whip Hand Over Independent Agencies

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The last Gridiron Club dinner featured a skit on Sherman Adams which was so rough that Sherman canceled his reservations to come to a repeat performance the next afternoon. The skit showed him telephoning to the FCC for TV channels for favored Republicans to the tune of the song:

"Sugar in the mornin', sugar in the evenin',
Sugar at supper time,
FCC's our baby
And TV ain't no crime."

There was a lot of truth behind this jingle. Perhaps that was why Sherman didn't want to see the skit a second time. There was also great truth behind Eisenhower's statement last week that he needed Sherman Adams. But there was no truth whatsoever behind Adams' statement that his calls had never been "intended to affect the decision of any officials of the United States government."

To understand whether Sherman Adams was telling the truth regarding his relations with Bernard Goldfine, and in order that the American public may better understand how the Eisenhower administration operates, it's important to take a comprehensive look at the activities of Sherman Adams.

He occupies the same position in the White House as that of Matt Connelly under President Truman. Connelly's job was to make appointments for the President. If you can decide who can or cannot see the President, tremendous power and favor comes your way. Connelly went far beyond this one duty, but never anywhere near as far as Adams.

Adams' All-Seeing Eye

Every report requiring affirmative action that comes to the President's desk is initialed "O.K. —S.A." If the paper doesn't bear Adams' initials, the President returns it with a query, "What does S.A. say about it?" Adams presides over staff meetings, which used to be presided over by Truman and Roosevelt. He attends meetings of the National Security Council. He pulls wires with Congress, despite the fact that an efficient liaison officer, Gen. Wilton Persons, is appointed to do that job.

And despite his sworn testimony to the contrary, he keeps a very careful eye on the regulatory agencies, supposed to be independent of the White House. The heads of all regulatory agencies come over to see Adams at regular intervals, and he goes over policy and personnel.

Members of the regulatory agencies all know this, and that is why a call from Adams to Chairman Ed Horey of the Federal Trade Commission merely asking a question was equivalent to an order.

When members of the regulatory agencies do not conform, they are fired. When Paul Rowan, commissioner of the Securities and Exchange Commission, voted against the giant Dixon-Yates private power project for the Tennessee Valley, he was dropped on Adams' orders. When Col. Joseph Adams fought for small airlines, as a member of the Civil Aeronautics Board, he also was dropped. Formal notification came from Adams' assistant, Robert Gray. It was Adams who also decided to dump Dr. Leonard Scheele, surgeon general of the Public Health Service; also to fire Peter Strobel of the General Services Administration after this column revealed that Strobel was guilty of making an inquiry on behalf of his company, somewhat in the same manner Adams made an inquiry on behalf of his benefactor, Bernard Goldfine.

Unnecessary to Phone

Much of Adams' intervention with the independent agencies does not consist of actual phone calls. Members of the agencies know that when he has the power to hire and fire they must conform. Under the law the regulatory agencies are supposed to have a majority of only one Republican under a Republican administration. The other members are supposed to be Democrats. But by a process of appointing such weak "Republican" as Richard Mack, Adams has succeeded in stacking the independent agencies so that they follow the Sherman Adams line.

Technically this is not against the law, but it is certainly against the spirit of the law.

ZELIENOPLE (Penna.) NEWS-RECORD: Teachers And Discipline Problem. The big problem of the average school teachers is not, as many seem to think, over-crowding of classrooms.

It's discipline.

There are parents who don't even try to discipline their children. Not much can be done with such people unless the law takes a hand. But there are others who could and would try harder if they realized the necessity of doing so. And if they are convinced that teachers and other parents are taking drastic action.

Perhaps some easy-going fathers and mothers would be aroused to action if they could observe the rude behavior of their boys—and often girls, too—in the classroom . . .

Things have got to the point where even manufacturers rent tools and machinery, and then the buildings to put them in.

Nobody's figured out a way to rent food, but the retailers of fresh-baked and ready-cooked foods are doing fine.

Clothes, of course, are a service item from 'way back. Especially since America went casual and dress affairs became uncommon, the dress suit renters have done well.

If we're lucky, in another 10 years we'll be able to rent people to put the suits on and go to boring dinners in our place.

To illustrate the potent arm of Sherman Adams, even in the legislative branch of government, take the long-distance call he placed to Gov. Robert Kennon of Louisiana in February, 1935. Speaker Sam Rayburn had proposed a $20 tax reduction for everyone in the U.S.A. The administration opposed it. Adams picked up the telephone, called Governor Kennon, an Eisenhower Democrat, asked him to get on the telephone to vote against Rayburn and the $20 tax reduction.

The White House has a legislative staff, supposed to work on legislative problems of this kind, but Adams works on every problem.

Again, in 1937, when Senator Fulbright of Arkansas was pushing a bill to lower taxes on small business, Adams telephoned Sen. Norris Cotton of New Hampshire, asked him to vote against the amendment. Cotton replied that he didn't agree with Adams, he favored tax relief for small business.

"You'll get another chance to vote for it later in the session," repeated Adams.

"I've been around here too long to fail for that," replied Cotton. He voted against Adams and for small business.

Adams' call, incidentally, was in direct contradiction to the President's election campaign pledge, Oct. 22, 1936, that he "planned to ask Congress to give small businessmen about $600 million in tax relief." That, however, is not the point. The point is the all-pervading power of the tight-lipped, highly efficient assistant to the President who has had his finger in every agency of government. That is why Ike needs S.A. And that is why S.A.'s calls to anyone in government can move mountains.

Think It Through

—By E. F. Hutton

GOLD—Every time we think about gold, it conjures up the way we've been short-changed by political leftists during the last twenty-five years. By what right did this Socialistic medicine men deprive us of possessing gold? The right to own gold is as American as apple pie.

President R. stacked the cards and his Congress okayed the order. To jail you went if gold were found in one's possession.

Gold is the only sure measure of the value of money. It's the century-old standard by which trade and enterprise operate, whether we deal with our neighbor, or some one in Asia. Cut money loose from gold, and there's nothing to prevent the unlimited expansion of paper money and inflation except the decisions of men often influenced by political consideration. The sky is the limit when gold is put in the deep freeze at Fort Knox.

A gold coin issued by a dead and buried Caesar 2000 years ago has lost no value. But paper dollars shrink day by day.

The Federal Reserve boys could say, "Hutton, the subject is too large for the size of your hat." O.K., but will they tell you why foreigners can have our gold, but you cannot?

Too few of us know the meaning of gold in relation to money, and the Constitutional right to own it. We're too busy with baseball, television and the funnies to worry about it until inflation comes breathing down our necks.

Israel's Health Today

It is paradoxical that a people as old in tradition as the Israeli are this year celebrating its tenth year as a new nation.

Among many reasons to be proud, the state of Israel can point to its health services. Comparable to most advanced conditions anywhere, the health standards of this new nation make a sharp contrast to conditions in its neighboring countries.

The ratio of physicians to population is one for every 400 persons, the highest in the world. Infant mortality has been decreased by setting up welfare stations and emergency hospitals next to the landing fields to care for the acutely ill and starving babies brought by refugees. Maternity mortality rates are low when one considers that a large part of the immigration has been from countries with low health standards. Hospitals have been supplemented by aid from welfare organizations in the United States as well as the Israeli government.

Israel has a large Arab population and it presented many major health problems. The Ministry of Health established 28 clinics at the Arab population centers and four mobile clinics to serve Arab citizens in Galilee and the Negev. All public clinics are open to the Arab people.

Through its new Academy of Medicine and its research centers Israel is now conducting basic and clinical research in medicine of international significance.

Two Men Speak, Both Get In Trouble

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is a tale of how two men got into trouble by saying what they thought.

Everybody agrees that in a democracy military commanders must be controlled by civilians. But it raises a nice question: What civilians?

For instance: the military commanders are subordinate to their civilian superior, Secretary of Defense McElroy.

But Congress is jealous of its right to question military commanders, even if it means they publicly disagree with McElroy and try to defeat his ideas.

When President Eisenhower asked Congress to permit him to reorganize the Defense Department, the House passed a bill giving him pretty much what he asked.

But it made a couple of exceptions. This was one:

If McElroy wanted to abolish some functions of one branch of the service or transfer them to another branch, then the chief of staff of the Army, Navy or Air Force — all under McElroy — could protest to Congress.

And, under the House-passed bill, Congress could repeal McElroy's order. Neither McElroy nor the Eisenhower administration liked this arrangement.

So, when the bill moved over to the Senate, McElroy asked the Armed Services Committee to knock out this section of the House bill.

But then the committee called on Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, for his views. They were contrary to McElroy's.

He said, in effect, that if McElroy wanted to take away some function of the Navy, and Burke thought it bad for the country, he wanted to be free to tell Congress so.

This opposition from Burke caused McElroy to tell reporters: "I am disappointed in him (Burke), regard it as regrettable."

Would this end Burke's career? McElroy said "I have no plans to have his position changed" but "I am not the only one responsible for his future."

This could be interpreted as

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dittenbacher, D.D.
No one has yet become the person he ought to be. Few people achieve the goals of being the persons they wanted to become. Yet everyone who prays is not the person he used to be.

As people look back on yesterday or on last year they see their failures and their weaknesses standing out in bas-relief against the background of their ideals. Even a brief evaluation of one's self points out many shortcomings. Many folk casually note their errors and go merrily along the way making more mistakes. They do not profit by their experiences.

All of us should gaze intently into the mirrors of ourselves and correct the things we do not like. We should strive to change our habits so that we may more nearly become the persons we ought to be. With God's help we may make more changes for the better than by merely trying to prod our wayward lives.

meaning Eisenhower, the only one above McElroy responsible for Burke's future, might punish the admiral.

McElroy hurried to deny the next day that he had any intention of rebuking Burke.

"The secretary can be disappointed, and he can regret parts of an officer's testimony without it being anything more than that," he said.

From far out in the Pacific, Vice Adm. Austin K. Doyle, commander at Formosa, backed up Burke, said he thought he was sticking his neck out for saying so, and announced he was shocked at McElroy's criticism of Burke.

Then McElroy got hit by Sen. Richard B. Russell, Georgia Democrat, chairman of the Armed Services Committee, and one of the most powerful men in Congress. He said a couple of things:

1. That McElroy's criticism of Burke for telling Congress what he thought was proof Congress must preserve the right to "receive the unbiased professional judgment" of this country's military leaders.

2. That "the clear implication in the secretary's statement that the Joint Chiefs must conform or be purged is more in keeping with the totalitarian concept of government than with our free government of divided powers."

That wasn't all. Russell called off any more testimony by military men on Eisenhower's reorganization plan until he gets assurance from McElroy they won't be punished for saying what they think.

The Mature Parent

Child Needs Orders; Parents Shouldn't Fear Giving Them

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Ten minutes before dinner Josie's mother called from the kitchen, "Would you please set the table, dear?"

Entering the dining room five minutes later, she found Josie just getting ready to spread the cloth on the table. She set her dish of mashed potatoes on a chair, grabbed the cloth from Josie and spreading it over the table herself, said impatiently, "If you ever did what you're told, I'd die of the shock."

But Josie had not been told to set the table. She'd been requested to set it.

Her mother's "would you please set the table?" had given her the choice between setting it or not setting it. At 11, she isn't morally strong enough to choose to set a table when she prefers to continue looking at TV.

What she needed was authority that made the decision for her—that could say, "Set the table, Josie."

But like others among us, her mother is uneasy with orders. As children we were taught to say to our parents, "Would you please give me a cookie?" instead of "Give me a cookie."

And we may continue to treat our own children like our parents, leaving Josie with the decision to give us a set table as we left Mother to decide to give us the cookie.

It might be helpful if we begin to experiment with the direct order, "Set the table, please."

If it doesn't produce immediate results, we shouldn't be discouraged. Just as we can't expect to produce a perfectly fitting dress the first time we make one, we can't expect perfect results with our first experiment with authority.

What counts is not its results but the willingness to risk its failure—the possibility that Josie will defy us.

This willingness is a form of self-trust. Quite often when we're brave enough to give a child an order, we find ourselves suddenly certain of our right to give it—and convince Josie of it, too.

We're like a man who's been wanting to swim but afraid to jump into the pool. Then one day he suddenly thinks, "The heck with this dithering," jumps into the pool—and after a flurry or two, finds himself swimming.

But to make that jump, he had first to risk the chance of failing.

Not Just Routine Calls

Bureaucrats Sensitive To Adams' Communications

by Joseph A. Dear
of Our Washington Bureau
WASHINGTON — A phone call from a member of Ike's White House staff invariably has more impact on federal regulatory agencies than a phone call from any member of Congress.

The reason is that the Congress is composed of many individuals, each of whom speaks for himself. But all the power of the presidency is vested in one man. And the Office of the President is a co-equal of the Congress.

Many men assist the President. But their authority derives from the fact that they speak in his name. Congressmen speak for themselves.

At his press conference Ike was asked to spell out Sherman Adams' duties and responsibilities. "I have never thought of trying it but . . . if you read the constitution . . . and find out exactly what my duties are, you will find that in some form, minor or major, he is engaged in assisting me. That's his whole task. I have a personal staff to help me get together all the facts. . . so (that) I can sit and make the decisions. Whatever I have to do, therefore, he has in some measure to do."

The bureaucracy of Washington knows that Sherman Adams directs the White House staff. And the bureaucracy knows that the man who directs the marshalling of the facts on which Presidential decisions are based is intimately involved in the decision-making process.

That's why it was rather misleading of Adams to suggest, in his appearance before the House' investigating subcommittee, that his calls on behalf of Boston industrialist Bernard Goldfine were comparable to the "routine" calls every member of Congress makes from Adams as "routine." It's just as simple as that.

During his appearance on the Hill, Adams made an admission which tends to contradict the "routine" defense. He was asked if he had ever made any "routine" calls to the Internal Revenue Service.

"Mr. Chairman," he replied, "I think there are some lessons which we can learn no matter how far along in life we get. I think I learned that lesson a long time ago. To the best of my knowledge and belief, there has never been an inquiry in respect to a tax matter regarding an individual that has come out of my office."

(Question: Did Adams ever make such a call on behalf of a corporation?)

Here Adams implies a distinction between calls to Internal Revenue and calls to other federal agencies. The plain implication of his answer is that a call to Internal Revenue would be more than routine. But if he couldn't expect Internal Revenue to consider a call from him routine, how could he expect any other agency to do so?

a coat without a dress.

"It is a dress," her mother would say and Kathy would come back with, "It isn't a dress, it's a coat. You'll see — you'll see — where's my belt?"

But regardless, Kathy had to wear the chemise to Bible School where her mother told the woman in charge to watch her and not let her take it off because she thought it was a coat.

Well, Kathy didn't take it off, but she didn't wear it with pride by any means. When Mommie returned for her, there she sat sulkily as if all the rest had on lovely little party dresses and she was in a old faded play suit. Chemise dresses — well, as far as Kathy is concerned whoever thought them up doesn't know the difference between a dress and a coat.

Lopez Recipe Has Succeeded For Chisox

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press
The Chicago White Sox finally have put Manager Al Lopez's formula for success to work: If you can't score many runs yourself don't let the other guy score any at all.

It sounds tough, but that's just what the Sox pitching staff has been doing lately. Ray Moore loaded another shutout on the American League-leading New York Yankees last night with a three-hitter that gave Chicago a 2-0 victory and a share of fourth place.

Moore, another profit in that power-for-pitching trade plan put into effect by the Sox last winter, had not pitched a shutout in a year, but he helped boost Chicago's whitewash total to six in nine games.

The second-place Kansas City A's whipped Washington 7-2 and retained their one-game lead over the third-place Detroit Tigers, who defeated Baltimore 3-1 in the only other game scheduled.

In the National League, rookie Carleton Willey tossed a six-hit shutout as the Milwaukee Braves defeated San Francisco 7-0. St. Louis moved into a third-place tie with Cincinnati by beating Pittsburgh 7-5 while the Redlegs beat Los Angeles 6-1.

Moore, now 4-1, gave up nothing but singles, none after the fourth inning, and walked two while striking out five. The Sox moved into a tie with idle Boston. A walk and Schemm Lollar's eighth home run in the first inning off southpaw Whitey Ford accounted for the Chicago Runs.

The A's counted three home runs, one Bob Cerv's 19th to tie Boston's Jackie Jensen for the AL lead. Little Murry Dickson won his fifth with a seven-hitter. He had a shutout until the seventh, then gave up home runs to Norm Zaichin and Roy Sievers. Bill Tuttle and Hector Lopez also homered for the A's.

George Susce, late of Boston, won his first for Detroit in his first complete game since Sept. 25, 1955, when he beat the Yankees. The lone Oriole run came in the sixth on Gus Triandos' 15th homer. Gail Harris homered off loser Arnie Portocarrero (4-5) for a 1-0 Tiger lead in the second inning. Al Kaline's sacrifice fly made it 2-0 in the third and he then tripled and scored on a passed ball in the eighth.

Gonzales Plays Hoad In Tourney of Champs

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—Pancho Gonzales plays Lew Hoad tonight in the Tournament of Champions. But there's nothing at stake except their competitive pride and the pro tennis king's remarkable record in New York.

Checked on the last time he's lost a match either here or in Madison Square Garden, Gonzales admitted "I guess I haven't lost here since the 1951 tournament when Pancho Segura beat me."

Since 1951, Gonzales figured he's won 15 matches—including the five that assure him the $3,000 first prize in the current round-robin. Gonzales stopped Australian Frank Sedgman by 10-8, 6-2 Monday night to clinch top money when Hoad lost to his former Australian Davis Cup buddy, Ken Rosewall, 6-2, 8-6 for a 3-2 record.

Rosewall completed the six-match round-robin with a 5-1 record, taking the runnerup $2,000 prize. Tony Trabert stopped Rex Hartwig, 6-2, 8-6 to finish third with a 4-2 record for $1,750.

In tonight's opener, Sedgman faces Pancho Segura of Ecuador to decide the $1,250 fifth-place money.

Gonzales and Rosewall will team against Trabert and Sedgman to settle the $1,500 doubles prize.

Damrills Make Unusual Catch Early Sunday

Edgar Damrill, 804 West 16th, thought Mrs. Damrill had goofed as a lookout for logs when his boat struck something in the Lake of the Ozarks early Sunday morning, but instead he found a 56-pound spoonbill floating on the water. He promptly hauled it into the boat and said later it was the first time he had ever caught a fish without dropping a line overboard. Damrill said that sometimes spoonbills will roll about near the top of the water and that this one was struck by his boat's propeller.

Lightning Strikes Little League Game

GRANVILLE, Utah (AP)—Lightning struck the field during a Little League baseball game yesterday, knocking over a group of youths watching.

"It bowled them over like bowling pins," said State Trooper Howard Cooper.

The bolt knocked three unconscious. Nine were rushed to a hospital. Only two—brothers Larry and Charles Johnson, 19 and 22—required treatment for minor burns.

Brasilia, the new capital city of Brazil, will be built at an altitude of 3,500 feet and the city's outline will resemble the shape of a huge airplane.

Wiener Attracts A Big Catfish At Liberty Park

Lanny Palmer, 10, had his fill of "hot dogs" so he decided to try one for fish bait. He will verify that "weenies" will attract good-sized fish, as his bait was snagged by a 6½-pound blue catfish, which also got tangled up with the "hidden hook."

Lanny went fishing with his dad, Charles J. Palmer, 2511 Dennis Road, at the lagoon in Liberty Park. Lanny placed the wiener on his hook and tossed it in. A few minutes later it was hit by the blue catfish and the fight was on. Pole bending in the middle and the line tightened, Lanny began screaming, "Daddy, Daddy, Daddy!"

Palmer hurried over to his son. With the help of another fisherman, standing nearby, the big cat was landed by all three—Lanny, his father, and the other man, after a 10-minute battle.

It was taken out to Chamberlin's Garage, where George Chamberlin put the official "six and a half pound" tag on it.

Once again rain was a threatening factor in last night's Little League games, but both were completed just a few minutes before the rains came.

In the first game in the majors at Liberty Park the Jaycees beat the Lions 11-7.

On the mound for Jaycees was winning hurler Short. Dougherty was the loser.

The Jaycees were leading 7-0 but Lions kept fighting back to bring it to 7-5. Then, in the fifth inning a Jaycee pitcher, Fletcher Gravitt, who was playing third base, highlighted the game with a grand slam homer to put the game on ice.

Kiwanis beat Post 16 in the second game of the twin bill, 15-5. Straka was the winner and Hotsenpiller the loser.

Kiwanis took advantage of several Little Post errors. Post scored all five runs in the fourth. Tommy Gibbs, a Kiwanis pitcher, playing centerfield, blasted a three-run homer in the fourth. It had just started to rain and, because Kiwanis had a ten-run lead, the game was called at the end of four.

The Jaycees B-team took a commanding victory over Lions in the first game at Housel Park, 23-2.

The Jaycees collected nine hits and 19 walks, as the Lions pitchers had difficulty with control. Winning pitcher McCurdy allowed one hit and two walks, good for two runs.

The Lions A-team beat Jaycees A-team in a close 6-4 decision in the second game.

Clark, the winning pitcher, had a one-for-two night at the plate, collecting one of the five Lion hits. Bacon, the loser, helped himself at the plate with a one-for-one night. This was one of the three Jaycee hits.

Two makeup games were played in the minors Saturday night. Kiwanis A-team beat Adco-A by a score of 5-4 in the first game. Hazel was the winner and Thomas the loser.

Elks defeated Lions A-team in the second game, 21-13. Lewellen was the winning pitcher, and Richardson was the loser.

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The Missouri Valley tennis championships will get under way here tomorrow on the Plaza courts.

He will have strong competition in David Harum, Coral Gables, Fla., who is ranked No. 20 nationally, and in Gene Land, Oklahoma City, who just won the Jayhawk Open; Neil Unterseher, Lincoln, Neb., and Hal Surface and Len Prosser, both of Kansas City.

Five Mexican players have entered, two of them women, Marta Hernandez, who is ranked first in doubles in Mexico, has beaten Louise Brough.

was the winning pitcher, and Richardson was the loser.

Plum Named Willey Pulls Out Braves

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Your ace has lost three in a row. Your World Series hero is stumbling along with a 5-5 record. Your most consistent winner is on the disabled list and your pitching staff has come through with only one nine-inning complete game in more than three weeks. You should be dead.

Instead, the Milwaukee Braves reached down to the minors and pulled out a plum named Carleton Willey, a big right-hander who won 21 at Wichita last season. He was the toast of the dozen or so kid pitchers who crowded the spring camp. But come outdown time and he was shipped back to Wichita.

Now, with Warren Spahn slumping, Lew Burdette at .500 for 10 decisions and Bob Buhl ailing, Willey was called back, and he came back big—pitching a six-hit shutout in his first major league start and beating second-place San Francisco 7-0 last night.

That bounced the Giants 2½ games behind and in danger of being overhauled by St. Louis and Cincinnati. The Cardinals tied the Redlegs for third place, a game behind San Francisco, with a 7-5 victory over Pittsburgh while Cincinnati was disposing of Los Angeles 6-1. Those were the only games scheduled.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox beat New York 2-0 on Ray Moore's three-hitter. The Kansas City A's beat Washington 7-2. Detroit defeated Baltimore 3-1.

Willey, 27, walked but one and struck out seven—giving up half the Giants' hits to Leon Wagner, who was purchased Saturday from Phoenix. The Braves scored two unearned runs in the first off Paul Giel, now 1-2, then kept rolling with home runs from Johnny Logan and Del Crandall. Willie Mays, apparently out of his slump had two of the Giants' hits—the second a single for his 1,000th hit in the majors.

The Pirates built a 3-0 lead against the Cards, then blew it with five errors, three by Ted Kluszewski. Curt Flood had four hits for St. Louis.

Brooks Lawrence (5-3) won his fourth in a row for the Redlegs, going all the way with a six-hitter while Cincy handed Johnny Podres his sixth defeat. Singles by Gus Bell and Roy McMillan, a sacrifice by Lawrence and Johnny Temple's single scored the tie-breaking runs in a two-run fifth.

Babe Ruth Squads Play Night Twin Bill

Babe Ruth leaguers gave baseball fans an enjoyable treat in two games at Liberty Park Monday night. Adco downed Phillips 66 with a 3-2 count and McCowns downed the league-leading Andersons team 4-1.

The Adco-Phillips 66 game was first on the schedule. Adco took the lead in the third and held it until the fifth when Phillips pushed two men across home plate. At the bottom of the fifth, Adco came up with two runs for the final 3-2 lead.

Moundman Cole, making his first start for Adco, allowed only two hits, two runs and struck out six. He was credited with his first win of the season. Jr. Walker of Phillips 66 pitched a fine game, giving up three hits, allowed three runs, and struck out four. He has two losses and one win for the season.

In the second game, McCowns jumped to a 1-0 lead in the second, came up with one in the second, and two in the fourth. Andersons came up with their single in the fourth as Nicky Nichols scored. Pete Smith for McCowns allowed two hits, one run, struck out six and walked two. He came out with a season record of three wins and 1 loss. Nichols took the loss for a two wins, one loss season record.

Casper Leads Golf Circuit In Winnings

FLINT, Mich. (AP)—Today is Bill Casper Jr.'s 27th birthday and he has a check for $9,000, a gleaming trophy and the title of golf's leading money winner to make it a happy one.

The beefy ex-sailor from Apple Valley, Calif., packed $9,000 worth of drama and excitement into one final put yesterday. From a distance of 3½ feet he captured the $52,000 Flint Open Tournament by a single stroke.

Casper finished with a 71, one-under-par, and his 285 tournament total nosed out Masters champion Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., and Ted Krohl of Sarasota, Fla., by a stroke.

Palmer finished brilliantly with a 69, the finest of the rainy day, while third round leader Krohl staggered in with a 75.

Casper, whose winnings for the year exceed $31,000, actually credited a two-hour downpour with helping him to his third triumph of the year. The apple-cheeked fellow with the rosy disposition sailed home splendidly after rain sogged the Warwick Hills course at nearby Grand Blanc.

Demos Support Eisenhower More Than Alcorn Suggests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Members from both parties apparently are making it difficult for Republicans to build up the campaign theme that President Eisenhower needs a GOP Congress to get his legislative program approved.

The contention that the Democrats in Congress are hamstringing the President's proposals has been one of the main talking points of GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn. Eisenhower himself used practically the same argument in an informal talk to the GOP state chairmen last Thursday.

But the Democrats and the Republicans are marking up a voting record in Congress that seems unlikely to sustain the GOP campaign argument.

For instance, unless all the signs fail, Senate Democrats will have to furnish the lion's share of votes if Eisenhower's request for a five-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act is approved.

Just as Republicans provided much of the opposition in the House, so the Senate finds its two top Republican leaders aligned against Eisenhower.

Senators Styles Bridges (R-NH) and William F. Knowland (R-Calif) are leading a drive to cut the extension to three years. Bridges heads the party policy committee and Knowland is minority floor leader.

On the other hand, some of those counted among the strongest GOP supporters of the trade program voted against many of the administration's amendments to the labor regulation bill the Senate has passed. These included senators Clifford P. Case (R-NJ), John S. Cooper (R-Ky), Irving Ives (R-

Chevrolet and Fisher Body Plants Closing

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Chevrolet assembly and Fisher Body plants employing 4,250 production workers—will be shut down next week. Although the shutdown will be for the entire week, only four production days will be lost because of the July 4 holiday.

About 1,800 workers will be affected at the Chevrolet plant. The remainder work at Fisher.

NY), Jacob K. Javits (R-NY) and Edward J. Thye (R-Minn).

When the House passed a defense reorganization bill that was not fully satisfactory to the President, Republicans there wrote a record in support of Eisenhower's losing proposals. But Senate Republicans appear unlikely to muster even a majority of their members in support of similar amendments.

Knowland and Bridges led the successful Senate assault on proposed authority for Eisenhower to provide foreign aid for Iron Curtain countries. They won this fight after Knowland said Eisenhower favored the authority, but not under the foreign aid bill.

In some areas the Democrats have bucked Eisenhower. With some Republican help, they provided the votes to pass farm and public works bills he later vetoed. But even on these issues there was no clear-cut party line.

The weather maps below give you the U. S. Weather Bureau's long-range forecast from mid-June to mid-July. It is not a specific forecast in the usual sense, but an ESTIMATE of average temperatures and precipitation for the period.

Central Plains, Southern and South Atlantic states can expect plenty of rainy weather. Folks west of the Rocky Mountains and in the Great Lakes region can look forward to dryer-than-usual days.

Cool is the word for most of the northeastern quarter of the nation, with the coolest weather in the Great Lakes region. West of the Continental Divide and in states bordering the Gulf of Mexico unusually hot weather is expected.

Air-Conditioned Hairpiece Could Solve Baldness Problem

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Keep this under your hat, fellows, but if you're going bald, Louis Feder may have just the thing for you. It's "the air-conditioned hairpiece," which weighs less than an ounce and is guaranteed to be hurricane proof.

"It's so light it breathes... absolutely no feeling on the head," said Ben Kaplan, executive vice president of the House of Louis Feder. "And please don't refer to it as a wig or toupee. Those terms are anathema in our industry. It is a hairpiece."

Feder, a pioneer human scalp roofer since he emigrated from Austria half a century ago, startled the industry with a new crew cut model hairpiece several years ago. Sales zoomed 700 per cent as baldies rushed to get an ivy league look.

The new air-conditioned special, Feder feels, may be his ultimate masterpiece. It is held firmly to the scalp by two small patches of tape, one fore, one aft.

"The wind can't get up under it and blow it off," explained Kaplan, a former Air Force major. He added:

"I flight tested it myself on the deck of a ship during a violent storm, which was darn near a storm, which was darn near a by diving headlong into the highest ocean breakers I could find."

In both tests, he said, the air-conditioned hairpiece clung to him with the loyalty of a poor relative.

"Television comedians are always making jokes about hairpieces falling off," he said. "But they don't. I've been wearing one for eight years, and mine has never fallen off."

Kaplan can put on his hairpiece and peel it off in 33 seconds. He doesn't know whether this is a record, as there have been no international contests in this field.

Surveys have shown 8 of 10 American men are affected to some extent by baldness. Approximately 250,000 males now wear hairpieces.

"They range in age from 3 to 93," Kaplan said. "Many people have the idea that only professional entertainers wear hairpieces. Actually, I doubt if one in a thousand is a performer."

"They come from all fields. They include ministers, salesmen, business executives, students—even a stepladder. Most of them aren't older men, either. About 76 per cent of our customers are under 35."

"One of the nice things about the hairpiece industry is that it seems recession-proof. In bad times many men feel it is easier for them to find work if they look younger. Some men who have lost their jobs use part of their unemployment benefits to invest in a hairpiece."

Hairpieces for men far antedate fashions for women.

"They were first worn, so far as we can find, by Egyptian Pharaohs more than 5,000 years ago," Kaplan said. "George Washington wore a hairpiece. So did our next three Presidents."

His most unusual client was a man who made his living being fired out of a circus cannon.

"Certainly he wore his hairpiece while performing his act," said Kaplan. "Why not?"

And the most unusual request his firm has had?

"Well," said Kaplan, "there was that fellow who wanted us to make him a hairpiece to wear on his chest."

Bees Find Rest Spot In Bottom of Car

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP) — R. H. Hackney was driving to his place of business the other morning when he began to realize that a swarm of bees, creeping up from the underside of his car, had found a resting place on his automobile.

They settled on his right front window. But Hackney, who declares that bees won't hurt you if you let them alone, continued to drive his car to work and lunch for a day and a half.

Yesterday Lester Foster, draftsman and amateur beekeeper, put on his hood and bonnet and de-beced Hackney's car. Sure enough no stings.

Farmer Is Killed In Tractor Plunge

MACON, Mo. (AP)—Joseph B. Youngmann, 65-year-old farmer, was killed Sunday afternoon when his tractor backed over the edge of a 35-foot embankment and fell upside down on him.

The accident was at Youngmann's farm near Callao, eight miles west of Macon on U. S. 36. Persistent wet weather had kept farmers in the area out of their fields and Youngmann had taken advantage of the bright Sunday to cultivate his corn.

Here's Chance For Politician To Go Down In U. S. History

By PETER EDSON
Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Now wait a minute.

Let's get this Sherman Adams-Bernard Goldfine $2,000 hotel bill business in perspective. And let's be realistic.

If there's any Eisenhower administration appointee—

If there's any senator or congressman—

If there's any Civil Service employee above GS-15—

If there's any Pentagon officer above colonel or captain—

Or if there's any newspaper man in Washington—

To repeat, if there are any people in the above ranks

—Who have never had a hotel bill or an entertainment check picked up for them,

—Who have never been on an all-expense paid junket, or —Who have never accepted gifts from some lobbyist or business representative with whom they were doing government business—

Let them sand up and be counted.

This offer can be made even better than that.

John T. (Diogenes) O'Rourke, editor of the Washington Daily News in the city where all these government people do business, is offering through this column to print in his paper the name of anyone who will write him, claiming never to have accepted such influence-seeking favors.

This little stunt to build up a Hound's Tooth Club public membership list has not been dreamed up to defend the assistant to the President, Ex-Gov. Sherman Adams, did or did not do.

It is just to point out that Governor Adams has simply been caught doing what everyone else has always been doing.

In this connection it might be mentioned that the Number Two Man in the White House has not had a perfect example set for him by the Number One man, who has accepted various gifts of tractors and prize bulls for his farm.

And as for congressmen calling for Governor Adams' resignation, how about all those junkets all over the world that senators and congressmen have taken on unaccounted-for government counterpart funds in foreign currencies?

Rep. John E. Moss (D-Calif.) has been waging a valiant campaign these last few years to break down the barriers of government secrecy.

But the tightest-held secrets in Washington are the Senate and House financial records which would show how much every congressman spent while abroad, and what for.

Representative Moss wouldn't dare try to break down this financial censorship. What's more, no congressman would dare rat on his colleagues by revealing his own expense vouchers.

The moral of this argument is that the ethical standards of this capital are pretty low.

Just how low may be illustrated by the Securities and Exchange Commission's effort to draft "canons of ethics" for its members.

When SEC Chairman Edward N. Gadsby came to town last August, he saw the need for a code of conduct at once. The idea was encouraged when the House Commerce Committee began its investigation of regulatory agencies.

With SEC approval, Chairman Gadsby had a code drawn up. It called for bans against (1) the use of official position for personal profit, (2) acceptance of gifts from people doing business with government, (3) discussion of future employment with private companies, (4) divulgence of official information to unauthorized persons, and (5) involvement in expensive social engagements with people having cases before U.S. agencies.

SEC approved sending the draft

Government Attention Drawn to Chrysler's Guided Missile Plant

DETROIT (AP) — The government's attention was drawn today to labor trouble at Chrysler guided missile plant developing as an offshoot of the auto industry's no-contract period.

A wildcat strike by United Auto Workers members idled several thousand men yesterday at Chrysler's Redstone and Jupiter parts factory and resulted in a "total loss" for the day's first shift.

Picketing members of UAW Local 1245, which represents about 450 of the plant's 9,500 employees, blocked gates to protest what they called company discrimination against union members. Chrysler denied this.

Officials on both Local 1245 and the international union said they would try to get strikers back to work.

The UAW has had no contracts at the industry's Big Three — Chrysler, Ford and General Motors — since expiration of the old three-year pacts on the Memorial Day weekend.

Negotiations for new contracts are continuing.

United States exports to the 20 Latin American Republics in 1957 jumped to a value of 4.7 billion dollars, an increase of one-fifth over 1956 levels.

15 Violations Found In Caravan of Trucks

SAVANNAH, Mo. (AP) — State troopers found 15 violations in a single caravan of trucks near here yesterday.

The troopers issued six tickets for lack of state licenses; five for no chauffeurs licenses and four for missing mufflers.

Drivers of the seven trucks were ordered to appear in court July 2.

Fort Leonard Wood, Mo. (AP) — Six hundred R. O. T. C. cadets saw a mass review and a simulated atomic bomb explosion in a demonstration here yesterday.

The simulated A-bomb was made of 300 pounds of explosives and 300 pounds of napalm jelly. It rose to only 250 feet against an expected crown of 1,000 feet.

Leaves Wednesday

Finnish Exchange Student Begins Last Part of Tour

Esko Ollila, American Field Exchange student from Finland who graduated from Smith-Cotton High School this year, actually lost a year's credit by making the trip. But he said Monday that he didn't mind losing the year because he learned more than he would have at his hometown school in Finland.

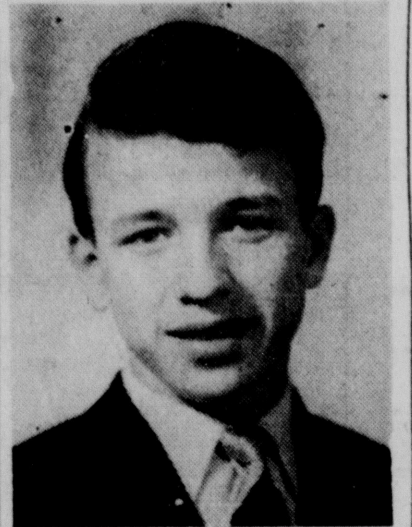

He will depart Sedalia Wednesday morning to begin the long trip home, which in itself is a continuation of his educational tour.

He will board the bus at Marshall Junction at 8 a.m., then travel to Peoria, Ill., where he will join his assigned group of exchange students who have attended various mid-west schools during the past year. This group has been assigned a bus, and will travel together to Washington, D.C. They will spend three days in the Capitol, where they are scheduled for a White House interview.

Leaving Washington, they will travel to New York City, where they will unite with other such groups from all over the nation, then travel to Montreal, Canada, to board the ship for Rotterdam, Holland. At Rotterdam, the group will break up and travel individually to their homelands. Esko says he will fly to his hometown, Rovaniemi, Finland.

Esko arrived in Sedalia last August under the AFE program sponsored by the American Association of University Women.

Esko Ollila

He spent the time living with Mr. and Mrs. Dan Robinson, 1701 West 10th. He said he found the American high school system somewhat different than the European systems. At his home, for instance, high school students are required to enroll in 13 subjects as compared to four or five in American schools. In some of the 13 compulsory subjects, however, students are required to attend only one class per week.

The counterpart of the American high school in Finland runs two years longer, and Esko still has two years to go before he graduates from his hometown high school. The longer period, he said, takes the place of junior college in the United States.

After completion of high school, he plans to enter the University of Helsinki as a law student. Esko has made many talks to Sedalia organizations about his own home life and homeland, and plans to make many talks about his trip when he returns home. He has had the opportunity to thank many persons for the wonderful time he has had in Sedalia, but he said:

"I know there are many individuals and organizations who have helped me during my stay in Sedalia. I want to take this opportunity to thank them for an unforgettable trip."

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Tylar, 2007 West Broadway. His wife and son also live in Sedalia with the Tylars.

Big Reform In Education Said Needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A two-year study concludes that a full-scale reform movement is needed to raise American education standards to the needs of modern times.

A report by the Rockefeller Brothers Fund, Inc., called Sunday night for immediate and far-reaching changes in the nation's educational system—not just more money.

The report echoed oft-repeated statements that American schools are overcrowded, understaffed and ill-equipped. It said the basic problem is one of providing more money but that other things must be done too.

The report suggested these steps:

Mutual OF OMAHA

1. Testing and guidance procedures must be strengthened to push along more talented students who may be held back by average or slow groups.

2. Some educational problems "gravely affecting the national interest" may require a helping hand from the federal government.

3. National leaders must grasp the scope of the job that lies ahead.

"Perhaps the greatest problem facing American education is the widely held view that all we require are a few more teachers, a few more buildings, a little more money," said the report.

The crisis in science education, the report said, "is not an invention of the newspapers, or scientists or the Pentagon. It is a real crisis."

It has all been brought about,
